INTRODUCTION

This directory has been prepared to give agricultural workers as complete a list as possible of sources of market news material in the Southern States. The listing of reports released by Federal and Federal-State marketing services is believed to be fairly complete and accurate, although in any tabulation of this sort allowance for oversight must be made. Temporary seasonal offices have been listed on the basis of the last season's operations. Next year may bring other changes.

As many private sources of information as could be secured have been included, but this section of the directory is far from complete. We hope that such sources as have been obtained may be helpful to workers interested in securing market information in areas where there is no Federal or Federal-State market news service.

We are indebted to officials in all State Departments of Agriculture and Extension Services, as well as to our own market news men and to a number of other individuals who helped in preparing this directory. We shall appreciate suggestions of other sources of current farm market information that may be included in later issues of this directory.
